Blood on the Tracks is a collaborative show of paintings and drawings by Kate Stevens and Surya Bajracharya. The works have been conjured up by shared filmic and photographic material from joint and solo travels of Kathmandu, Japan and Thailand.

The themes are based on the ideas of the captured moment (photographic/filmic), and the recalled moment. The works are a retelling of a combination of these ideas; dealing with memory, experience and the ever-transient moment. Blood on the Tracks is a narrative exploration of these themes.
